
Title of the course

- 230005 Protection of intellectual and industrial property in doctoral studies

Organizing center/area leading the course

Deusto International Research School (DIRS) – Transversal course

Training category

Methodology and research techniques

Lecturers/Coordinator of the training course

Coordinator: Stella Solernou Sanz

Lecturers: Fernando Díez (DEIKER) and Stella Solernou Sanz (Faculty of Law)

Priority group

First year, second year, third year PhD students

Competences

Generic competences

Innovation: designing and applying innovative processes that lead to obtaining better results in real situations and/or projects.

Ethical sense: identify, recognize and apply ethical values and moral sensibility.

Specific Competences

To know the institutions of intellectual and industrial property.

Demonstrate the ability to solve practical cases in the field of Intellectual and Industrial Property.

Pre-requisites / prior knowledge

They are not necessary

Contents

1. Introduction:

Distinction between copyright and industrial property

2. Copyright:

2.1. The work: protection requirements and different types of creations

2.2. The author's moral right

2.3. The exploitation rights

2.4. Duration and limits

2.5. The reuse of materials

3. Industrial property:

3.1. The different rights on intangible creations and their regulations

3.2. University, Patents and Open Access

4. The regulations of the University of Deusto regarding intellectual and industrial property

Level of the course

Introductory

Methodology

Theoretical exposition of the basic concepts and resolution of practical cases

Language of instruction

English

Mode of instruction

In-class and virtual attendance

Number of places

PhD students: 20

Assessment

Presentation of a work

Number of hours

5 hours

Bilbao Campus

- Month when the course begins: November 2023
 - Schedule: Thursday, 2 November
 - Time: 15:00-20:00
-